

TERRY ALBANESE NAMED CONSULTING EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF MUGGSY BOGUES FAMILY FOUNDATION

Albanese brings extensive experience in public health, workforce development and higher education sectors

The Muggsy Bogues Family Foundation has announced the addition of Terry Albanese as consulting Executive Director of the organization. Albanese will be responsible for the planning, organization, and direction of the MBFF operations and programs, including internal stewardship, strategic planning, operations, finances, and fund development.

A native of Syracuse, NY, currently residing in Matthews, Albanese has extensive expertise in the non-profit sector including public health, workforce development and higher education. In her various roles, Albanese has helped raise more than $30 million in funds to support the community-based work of many non-profit organizations including Teen Health Connection, Mental Health America of Central Carolinas, and Pfeiffer University. Albanese holds a Master of Science in Education with a concentration in Health.

“I fully embrace the MBFF’s mission to help struggling families and youth at-risk to attain a college education,” Albanese said. “In my executive role, I will work to propel the Foundation’s mission forward, helping Muggsy and his family build a strong foundation on which his legacy will stand. My passion for helping the underserved to improve quality of life will serve as my compass to direct the growth of this organization. I am truly honored for this opportunity.”

“We are excited to have Terry on board to take our family foundation to the next level,” Muggsy Bogues said. “We have some lofty goals on the horizon and Terry’s background, success rate and compassion make her the best person for this position.”

As a 501(c)(3) organization, the Muggsy Bogues Family Foundation assists vocationally bound students with scholarships and develops community outreach programs for at-risk families that address the most basic necessities like food and water. The MBFF’s goal is to encourage youth and families by providing resources that emphasize stability and empower youth and families to reach their full potential, becoming well rounded students and productive adult citizens. For more information on MBFF, click here.
